VOL. LVIII: NO. 21. REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1917 ESTABLISHED 1859.

AGED RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

MRS. WAHL, EARLY PIONEER, TO BE LAID TO REST HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Following a lingering illness of over a year's duration Mrs. William Whal passed to her final rest at her home on Beach street early Thursday morning.

Mrs. Wahl was a pioneer woman of Redwood City having arrived here early in 1864 and residing here ever since. She came to San Francisco in 1857 and married Joseph Krieg on January 6 1864 and shortly afterwards the young couple came to Redwood City. Mr. Krieg established the tannery known as the Beeger tannery which has been constantly in operation since it was started. Fourteen years after the marriage of the couple Mr. Krieg passed away. No children was born to the couple. Mrs. Krieg married William Wahl of this city on July 18, 1880, who proceeded her to the grave three years ago. Mrs. Wahl was taken ill over a year ago and shortly afterwards was removed to the Redwood City hospital from which institution she was reutrned to her home several weeks ago. Mrs. Wahl was prominent in the financial affairs of Redwood City for many years. She was the owner of the Wahl building one of the largest buildings in this city. The deceased was a bright business woman careful in the management of her property and frugal in her habits. She leaves a big estate. In her business dealings she was upright and honest and thoroughly considerate of others. Mrs. Wahl was born in Weinhartshausen Baden, Germany on August 28, 1835. In her youth she was known as Catherine Margaretha Schilling.

The funeral will take place from the Congregational church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Union Cemetery ,Redwood City.

TRIANGLE STAR AN ALLURING FIGURE AS "THE FLAME"

A woman as lawless and free of love as Merimee's Carmen is the role played by Dorothy Dalton in the new Triangle play "The Flame of the Yukon" written by Monte M. Ketterjohn and proudced under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince.

"The Flame," as the gamblers and miners call her, is the queen of the dance hall girls in a Yukon frontier town during the gold rush days. She is a woman without creed ,conscience or moral standard, yet when she meets "The Stranger", a young, rugged fellow who comes to the northland to make his fortune, she feels a sudden attraction that draws her to him. Instead of "trimming" him, as she has planned, she becomes his champion and determines to "go straight" in order to gain his respect.

A speindid supporting caste headed by Kenneth Harlan, former leading man for Gertrude Hoffman in "Sumurun" and last seen on the screen in "Cheerful Givers" with Bessie Love, insures the effective interpretation of the many dramatic scenes. Melbourne MacDowell, husband of the late Fanny Davenport and distinguished for his stage work is another member of the caste, and Margaret Thompson, Carl Ullman and May Palmer have important roles. Charles Miller was the director.

EXEMPTION BOARD ISSUE SECOND CALL

MEMBERS WORKING DAY AND NIGHT IN ORDER TO FINISH UP THEIR WORK

The members of the exemption board are working like Trojans at San Mateo day and night in the task of hearing exemption claims. They have done efficient work and will soon complete their task. The board on Thursday issued a second call for draft eligibles needed to complete the county quota of 384 men. Notices are being sent to 622 registrants to appear for medical eramination during the coming week.

Out of the first call of 807 men 155 have been selected for the draft army. It is hoped that when exemption claims now under consideration are disposed of about 240 men will have been selected from the first call.

N. D. G. W. HAVE INSTALLATION

Menlo Parlor, N. D. G. W., was the guest of Bonita Parlor, N. D. G. W., of this city on Thursday evening at a joint installation of officers.

During the evening Miss Mary Handley was presented by the members of Bonita with a handsome and costly brooch as a remembrance from the members for her efficient work during the past twenty-five years as treasurer.

Miss Emily Kelting was also presented with a cut glass perfume bottle for her capabilities and courtesy as financial secretary for many years.

Both young ladies responded feelingly.

Miss Catherine Derry, of Menlo Park, was given a diamond ring appropriately engraved with the words "N. D. G. W.". She is the retiring president of Menlo Parlor. She was graceous in her response. After the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Bonita Parlor. The banquet hall was tastefully decorated with flowers and greenery.

The following officers of Menlo Parlor were installed: Catherine Derry, past president; Amelia Morey, president; Annie Doyle first vice-president; Helen Johansen second vice-president; Elizabeth Casey, third vice-president; Julia Bowles, Marshal; Angela Broggi, financial secretary; Frances Maloney, secretary; Jennie Michel, treasurer; Clara Andrews, Kate Kavanaugh, Adalaide Blanchard, trustees; Rita Schenkel, organist; Frances Casey, inside sentinel; Jennie Roach, outside sentinel.

COUNTY SOLONS IN REGULAR SESSION

McEVOY DISPUTE UNSETTLED—ATT'Y O'KEEFE ASKS FOR K. OF C. APPROPRIATION

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday morning, August 20th, at 10 o'clock.

Supervisor MacBain addressed the board relative to widening Golder Lane, which runs from the State highway to the Southern Pacific right of way in the town of Menlo Park, thirty-five feet. He presented a deed from Charles H. Merrill and Phillis M. Merrill conveying to the county the land necessary to carry out the above widening of the thoroughfare.

On motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, the deed was ordered accepted and the name of the thoroughfare changed from Golder Lane to Santa Cruz avenue.

A petition was received and read, signed by Kenneth Murray and other residents and taxpayers of the Redwood City school district, asking the board to cut a road through the Botto property to connect Ebener street in the town of Redwood City with the Redwood City-Woodside road at a point opposite the new Washington public school in the Boyd and Kent tract, so as to give the children living in the Ebener avenue district a direct route to the school, instead of having to travel the round-about way of down the State highway and then up the Woodside road.

Attorney H. W. Walker of Redwood City appeared for the petitioners and explained the necessity of having the proposed road put through. He had Kenneth Murray sworn, who testified that he had secured the signatures to the petition presented and that all of them were residents of the district. Attorney Walker was also sworn as to their being the necessary ten freeholders' names on the petition.

The petition was accepted on mopointed.

The viewers appointed by Chairman Thompson were County Surveyor Jas. V. Neuman, R. F. Chilcott and George H. Irving.

Attorney James T. O'Keefe of Redwood City appeared before the board in behalf of the Knights of Columbus of San Mateo county and asked for an appropriation to assist in carrying on the recreation work the organization is planning at Camp Fremont. Mr. O'Keefe asked the board to appropriate the same amount that had been promised the Y. M. C. A. some time ago. He explained that the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus were the only organizations so far recognized by the nUited States government in the recreation work among the soldiers.

The board took no action in the matter but the members expressed themselves as willing to appropriate the same amount that had been promised to the Y. M. C. A.

John Henderson, president of Mt. Olivet Cemetery at Colma, appeared before the board and asked that some action be taken to re-open for traffic the old San Bruno road from Daly City to Market street in Colma, so as to assist in taking care of the congested and heavy travel from San Francisco to the cemeteries.

After considerable discussion, during which the members of the board expressed themselves as opposed to levying any additional taxes for road work in the county that was not absolutely necessary, it was ordered, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, that County Engineer Neuman proceed to prepare maps and make an estimate of the cost of opening the road and putting it in condition for traffic.

A communication was received from the Redwood Transit Company, petitioning for a permit to run their automobile busses from Redwood City to Camp Fremont at Menlo Park the fare between the two points being fixed at 10 cents.

F. K. Towne, secretary of the company, and George H. Irving, one of the directors, appeared before the board in behalf of the petition and asked that a day be set for hearing the same.

On motion of MacBain, seconded by Brown, Monday, August 20th, was set as the time for the above hearing, the board deciding to hold a special meeting on that day for the above purpose.

This being the time set for hearing the dispute between P. H. McEvoy and Conuty Surveyor J. V. Neuman over the former's claim for the work performed in his contract to construct a portion of the "Skyline" boulevard on the summit of the mountain from the Halfmoon Bay-San Mateo road leading south, Contractor McEvoy addressed the boar dand stated that Attorney J. J. Bullock would represent him in the matter.

Attorney Bullock thereupon presented the itemized claims of McEvoy for the work done in the contract and also the amount of material used, which did not agree with the figures of Engineer Neuman in his estimate, the difference being in the neighborhood of $500.

Neuman explained that the engineer in charge of the work had been very liberal in his allowance to the contractor.

After considerable discussion and following a conference between Attorney Bullock and Engineer Neuman, which resulted in no further agreement as to the disputed figures, the board continued the hearing until Monday, August 27th.

On motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, it was ordered that the indigent fund be abolished and in lieu thereof, a fund be established to be known as the County Farm and Social Service fund.

Supervisor Brown addressed the board relative to the failure of the State Highway Commission to take any action to complete the surfacing of the new highway between Redwood City and Beresford, although a request to that effect had been amde to the highway commission in writing by the clerk of the board of supervisors.

On motion of Brown, seconded by MacBain, it was ordered that a committee, consisting of the entire board, County Surveyor J. V. Neuman, County Clerk Jos. H[illegible]sh, and Senator M. B. Johnson and Assemblyman F. L. Eskward, wait on Governor Stephens at Sacramento and present the matter to him in person.

On motion of Hickey, seconded by Brown, an appropriation of $250 was made for space in the land show to take place in San Francisco soon.

Sam Berger was given permission to construct the front portion of a new building at Menlo Park, the remainder of the structure to be completed later.

TOWN TO SEND REPRESENTATIVE

TRUSTEE TUCHSEN WILL GO TO WASHINGTON IN INTERESTS OF REDWOOD CITY

The city council at its meeting on Monday evening last, decided to send one of its members, H. C. Tuchsen, to Washington, to urge the appropriation that was agreed upon by the government engineers to dredge the channel connecting the city with the bay.

The council appropriated the sum of $100 to help defray Mr. Tuchsen's expenses of the trip. He will leave on September first.

Mr. McGettigan, secertary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber had taken up the matter and the members agreed to subscribe $300 towards meeting the expenses of making a personal campaign for the needed appropriation. The council promised to give all the aid possible to the project.

Next Monday evening the council will hear the application of the Rapid Transit Company for permission to operate a motor bus line to Camp Fremont. The application was made by Frank K. Towne.

At the suggestion of Trustee Tuchsen it was agreed to construct sidewalks and curbs on Vera avenue at once, the paving to be delayed for a year.

Mrs. Cassaretto was given permission to conduct an all night dance tomorrow evening.

The license of the Acme saloon on Main street, which was suspended at the last regular meeting of the turstees, was ordered restored by a unanimous vote of the trustees.

The ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor to soldiers in uniform was given its final reading and adopted.

NEWS FROM WOODSIDE

Mrs. Louis Weber, a former resident of Woodside, visited friends here during the week. Mrs. Weber spent her girihood here and attended the grammar school. She at one time owned the Zane property. Mrs. Weber has for some time been residing at Long Beach. Mrs. Weber and her three pretty children had not been here for the past five years and were naturally amazed at the growth and progress of Woodside.

A good many of the waltzers of Woodside will journey to the Foresters Hall, Redwood City next Saturday night to attend the Grand Ball given by the Young Bachelors and also to enter in the Prize Waltz Contest.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McArthur of Reno, who were visiting relatives here have returned home accompanied by Mrs. James Warren.

H. C. Tuchsen Appointed Appraiser

Judge Buck has appointed H. C. Tuchsen appraiser of the estate of John O'Connor, deceased.

INTERESTING TALKS CONCERNING CAMP

ORGANIZATION FORM TO WORK FOR BETTER INVIRONMENTS FOR SOLDIERS

Two very informing and interesting addresses were given at the union meeting held at the Congregational church Sunday evening, on the matter of clean entertainment and recreation for the incoming soldiers at Camp Fremont. Prof R. E. Swain of Stanford was the first speaker. He outlined what is being done in the way of organization looking to care for the soldiers, both in the camp and outside. A comprehensive organization has been formed, of which he is the head, consisting of representatives of Palo Alto, Menlo, Atherton and Redwood City. The representatives from Redwood City are Mrs. Geo. A. Merrill and Charles G. Landscheit. This organization will concern itself, not only in furnishing amusement for the camp, but also in guarding it from vicious and harmful surroundings. No unwholesome resort, or place of amusement, will be allowed.

The second speaker was James B. Williams, representing the war department; appointed to aid and direct the local organizations. He spoke of the definite things that ought to be done,—ways in which we can help keep up the moral tone of the camp. Aside from what we may do through the Y. M. C. A., we need to furnish a place of recreation and amusement near the camp. The ground just across the highway from the camp, between it and the railroad track, might be secured on which a building could be erected for that purpose. Then the soldiers, in small bunches, might be invited into our homes and given a taste of home-life. Also invite them to our churches and fraternal organizations. There is much talent among them that might be utilized by the churches, which would be helpful both to the community and the soldiers who render the service. It would keep them busy and keep their minds clean.

GIVEN INTERLOCUTORY DECREE

Yesterday Judge Buck granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Catherine Casaretto from her husband, J. B. Casaretto on the ground of extreme cruelty. The custody of the two minor children was awarded to the father. The property rights were settled out of court.

CAMP WORK TO BE RESUMED SOON

EXCESSIVE EXPENDITURES HAD MUCH TO DO WITH CLOSING DOWN THE WORK

A telegram from Washington late yesterday to a prominent citizen in Menlo Park announced that Camp Fremont would not be disturbed, that work on the bluidings would be resumed next week. The full quota of troops will come there for training. This reassuring news will be received with joy by the people of Menlo Park, many of whom have spent large sums in buildings. All yesterday influential men both in San Mateo county and San Francisco kept the wire busy at Washington urging Secretary Baker to continue the camp. Mayor Rolph dispatched Mr. Donnigan, secretary of the board of supervisors of San Francisco, to Washington to take up the matter of retaining the camp at Menlo Park with the President.

Work has not been discontinued on the hospital buildings and the remount station. It is believed that all the differences with the state board of health have been settled and that there will be no further trouble. A gentleman connected with the camp says the contractors are responsible for the discontinuance of the work. They are running up expenses at a very high rate. The government checked these expenditures and came to the conclusion it was about time to call a halt and ordered all work discontinued in order to get rid of the contractors. This statement is also borne out by others up in authority. Late yesterday afternoon Senator Phelan and Senator Johnson conferred with Secretary Baker and he assured the senators from California that the camp would remain in Menlo Park. The news of discontinuing work on Wednesday fell as a severe blow on the people, but they have recovered from the shock to begin with renewed vigor the building of the new town.

YOUNG BACHELORS TO HOLD BIG DANCE AT REDWOOD CITY

A great many will journey to Redwood City next Saturday night, Sept. 1st, as this is the night that the Young Bachelors hold their tenth Grand Ball and Prize Waltz contest in the Foresters' hall. If public interest as expressed by dancers and the usual spectators is a forecast as to the crowd that will attend, then there is an assurance of the largest crowd that ever attended the Young Bachelors events as the dance and waltz contest are now the main topic of conversation. "Turn Back the Universe and Give Me Yesterday" has been decided upon as the selection to be played for the prize waltz contest as it is the best known waltz of the time. Six beautiful prizes, the first now on exhibition at Knox Toggery, will be given away. A judge that understands the good old waltz as it should be has been secured to decide who will be entitled to the prizes. Dancing will commence sharp at 8 o'clock and the Young Bachelors extend a welcome invitation to all to attend and enjoy an evening of music and dancing.

"EVEN AS YOU AND I" BIG SUCCESS IN PHOTO-PLAY

The most powerful drama of souls that has been presented on the screen this season, will be seen at the New Redwood theatre for one day only Monday, August 27th.

It already has attracted widespread and enthusiastic attention. This remarkable photo-drama in seven reels holds every audience thrilled from beginning uptil end. Its absorbing script depicts life in Bohemia as lived by a couple held aloof from the giddy whirl for a time by their gentle idealism, with dramatic situations it introduced into their lives happy home a modern citizen, proud of his cynical theory that there is no faithful love, and predicting that the two at no very distant day will betray each other.

Their journeys along the thorned path of life and their fall and rise fill the seven reels with the most intense interest. The strong caste is headed by Ben Wilson ,Priscilla Dean and Mignon Anderson. Words cannot describe this wonderful photo-drama.

PRIVATE CHESTER NYE SUCCESSFUL SECURING RECRUITS

Kirkpatrick for the Aviation corps, as machinists.

DUCK HUNTING REMINISCENCES

STORY NO. 15 BY CLAUDE FOX

In story No. 7 on th e above subject the assertion was made by me that at the time of which I was writing, the winter of 1877-78, wild ducks and geese were here by tens of thousands, and the same condtions existed for years afterwards. This I know to be a fact from my personal experience and observation, and I have been informed by men who lived and hunted previous to that time, that the bay, creeks and marshes adjacent to this city were practically alive with the web-foots for many years previous to my advent into the marshlands. I do not anticipate that any of the readers of this article will deny that such conditions did exist at the times mentioned, but it would be unfair of me to ask you to take my unsupported statement in this regard.

I would therefore respectfully refer you to such men as Henry C. Hall of Corte Madera, M. F. Brown, W. B. Lawrence and George W. Hall of San Mateo, Chase Littlejohn, Louis Werder, Lon Cook, L. J. Winn, George and Joe Winter of this city, Wm. Carnduff and P. H. McEvoy, of Menlo Park and the Cooley boys, formerly of Ravenswood, all of whom, I feel certain, will vouch for the truthfulness of the statement above made.

At the same time I promised the boys of today to tell them why the wild ducks and geese were here in such countless numbers and why they went away. That they were here, as I have above intimated will hardly be the subject of any argument; that they have gone away and practically deserted this vicinity is a fact so well known that it is unnecessary to dwell further upon it.

I have therefore but two propositions before me. Why were those birds here and why did they go away.

As every man and boy knows, who carries a shotgun, for which privilege he pays one dollar per year, if he is a citizen and resident, there is within this State a body of men called the Fish and Game Commission, appointed by his Excellency, the Governor, whose duty it is to propagate the fish and game in the various counties and conserve the different species for the benefit of the whole people. Whether they consistently do this is a debatable question. Personally I do not believe they do. When you have finished reading this article you may think likewise. I shall confine myself to the wild duck question, leaving the fish proposition for some one more familiar with the subject.

During my life I have made it a point to read considerably and I must confess that I have yet to cast my eye on a single line issued by the Fish and Game Commission of this State, informing the people thereof, whom this Commission is supposed to serve, why wild ducks and geese are so plentiful in some localities and practically destitute in others. Are we, the people, supposed to know the reason for such conditions when we have serving us a commission paid princely salaries year after year? Must we continue paying our dollar each year and get no information on this subject in return? What magnet, what lodestone is it that so attracts the web-foots? Will that Commission answer? No. But let the ducks disappear from a locality they have favored for some years with their presence and the Fish and Game Commission of this State will arise in its wrath compared to which the eruption of Mount Pelee would be but a shadow, and spend hundreds of dollars of the taxpayer's money in endeavoring to convince the people that the poor unfortunate being whom that same Commission has not only been prosecuting, but persecuting for years past, the market hunter, is unquestionably wholly responsible for the disappearance of wild waterfowl from that favored locality. What nonsense! Why not tell the truth?

But you boys of today desire to know why the ducks were here in such immense numbers way back in 1877-78 and I shall proceed to tell you, knowing full well that if you waited to derive that information from the present Fish and Game Commission of this State, some of you would be laid away in your last sleep with my first pal "Bill" and those fortunate enough to be living would be old grey haired men.

The ducks and geese were here so plentifully because the food was here for their consumption and when that food was gone they very wisely used what nature had provided for them, their wings, and they flew elsewhere in search for that which was necessary to sustain their lives. The market hunter had as much to do with the disappearance of the birds in this locality as I had with the cause of the brutal conflict which is today astounding and horrifying the civilized world.

To substantiate what I say it is necessary that you should know the existing conditions at that time. Go back with me thirty-seven years ago and take a look at San Mateo county, or rather the bay side of it, of which I speak more particularly, and see what we find. Stretching from the northern boundary line to the San Francisquito creek were large ranches, which today are subdivided into small holdings dotted with the homes of our ever increasing population. Where are the farmers who tilled the soil in those early days? The great majority are laid away in their last sleep. My old friend John Curran, his brother Patrick, P. J. and Edward Foley are a few of those still surviving. What did they plant on these thousands of acres at that time? Wheat, barley and oats. Not much of the latter, principally wheat and barley, which as every one knows is the natural food for wild ducks and geese. Year after year these two cereals were sown, and the eastern side of our county being in close proximity to the marshes and the bay of San Francisco, became a veritable paradise for the web-foots. At night time the birds would fly in from their loafing grounds in the bay and marshes and gorge themselves on the freshly sown grain. At daybreak back they would go to the bay and its tributaries, only to repeat the same performance night after night throughout the entire winter months. At the first streaks of dawn the wild geese, of which there were thousands consisting principally of honkers, spreckled breasted brandt and gray, together with large numbers of the white or snow geese, would invade the uplands and fatten themselves to their hearts content. There were few shotguns in those days, and the birds were practically undisturbed. Remember however, that during this time and for years previous, the market hunters were killing hundreds of the birds, still there was no diminution in their numbers. Every pair of ducks and geese that left in the spring for the breeding grounds brought a young brood back with them. The food was here for them and a battery of gatling guns could not keep them out of the fields where grain was sown. That was the magnet, the lodestone, which attracted them, and just as long as grain was sown in this valley, the wild ducks and geese returned each winter in countless numbers.

But a change came. The farmers throughout the whole state were raising wheat and barley. The great valleys of the San Joaquin, Sacramento, Santa Clara and Salinas were pouring into the warehouses their golden harvest until the buildings fairly groaned under the heavy burden. The middle west was fast settling up and supplying the eastern market and that of the European countries with the identical product that the farmers of this state were producing. The farther west, the higher the freight rate, and the farmer here could consequently not compete with his brother in Kansas. What happened? The supply became greater than the demand. What was the result? The price of wheat and barley dropped to a figure where the farmers of this state could not afford to pay for the necessary labor to plow, harrow, sow, harvest and thresh his crop of wheat or barley, for there was no profit. Hay was in demand at a fair price, and thus it was that the thousands of acres which had for years been a grand feeding ground for the wild water fowl was let go to volunteer and cut for hay. The smoke of the threshing machines vanished from our county, and then and not until that time did the wild ducks and geese commence to gradually disappear from this neighborhood, then and not before did the market hunter find his vocation was slowly but surely becoming more unprofitable, until, like the Arab, he was compelled to fold his tent and silently steal away. The farmer had quit sowing grain, so the food was gone, and the wild ducks and geese hied themselves elsewhere to find that of which they had been deprived here. That is the sum and substance of the wild duck question in this county, as it is elsewhere, why they were here and why they went away, food and the lack of it—expresses it all, and any man, whether he be an official of this state, or not, who tells you that the market hunter is responsible for wild water fowl not being here today as they were thirty seven years ago, is saying something which he well knows way down in the bottom of his heart is an absolute falsehood.

Supplemental to my theory on the food question I might say, although it is deviating somewhat from the wild duck and goose proposition, that at the time the farmers were sowing grain here in this valley ,wild pigeons came by the thousands every fall to partake of the hospitality so generously distributed. When the sowing of grain ceased these birds failed to put in an appearance, except periodically, when the oak trees bore acorns, which as you all know, does not occur each successive year. Would the Fish and Game Commission wish you to believe that the market hunter drove these birds away? Common sense dictates otherwise.

Again you will remember less than two years ago the rice growers of the state raised a hue and cry, which they were justified in so doing, that the wild ducks were destroying their crops, and threatened to shoot the birds during the closed season, leaving their bodies to rot upon the ground. The Commission came right back at them with the assertion that the wild ducks were not eating the rice; that they were just loafing in the rice fields, having a sort of a duck convention, so to speak. How ridiculous. The Gould boys, Charlie and Eddie, Billy Williamson, George and Louis Genochio and myself have all killed ducks on the Alameda side of the bay with their crops filled with rice. Would the Fish and Game Commission wish you to believe that the rice stuck to the feathers of the birds and was absorbed through the skin? Any time that a wild duck will fly miles and alight in a rice field for the sole purpose of exercising its wings, it will be a species of the web-foots that, with all my experience, I have failed to make the acquaintance.

Back in 1877-78 duck preserves containing baited ponds were unknown and the farmer was consequently the innocent victim who satiated the hunger of the wild birds of the marshland, and it was the man who tilled the soil and planted grain, until it became an unprofitable business proposition, that attracted the birds back here year after year. Today thousands of acres of the best duck shooting grounds of the state are either owned or controlled by men of wealth and tons of grain thrown into ponds on the preserves for the purpose of securing to the owners or lessees good duck and goose shooting, to the absolute exclusion of the poor man, or what I might term the middle class of humanity. Is it necessary for me to inform you why these ponds are baited? I think not. A wild duck will fly miles and miles to obtain food and these preserves are constantly attracting the web-foots and drawing them away from their former haunts where food has become scarce.

At the last session of our State Legislature a measure came up for consideration with the idea of it becoming a law, prohibiting the baiting of ponds for the purpose of shootng wild ducks. Do you think for a single moment that proposition in legal form was ever added to our statute books? Why not, you ask me? Because objection was made to its passage by the very men who today control the large shooting preserves of this State, and who well knew that it was the grain distributed on their lands that insured to them the ideal duck shooting which they enjoy, and if that prohibitive measure was passed the birds would leave the preserves and scatter to different localities where the poor man and the middle class would stand some show of enjoying a wild duck dinner occasionally.

Many people believe that a wild duck is a fool and have so expressed themselves, but I have studied the habits and characteristics of the birds too long to permit me to coincide with any such view. They base their opinion mainly on the fact that the broadbills will swing in to a flock of decoys and permit themselves to be killed. But do not judge too hastily. If you are an observing person, you will not have to look very carefully, as you walk along the street every day of your life, to find human beings falling for decoys, and they are not web-footed either.

I have stated herein that personally I do not believe that the Fish and Game Commission of this State is conserving the wild game thereof for the benefit of the whole people.

To verify the belief I have just expressed, I wish to call the attention of the people of this state ,and more particularly the people of San Mateo county, to what transpired just previous to the last general election, and in doing so permit me to ask you this question: Were you ever buncoed? You say no. Well, I am glad of it and hope you never will be, but right here I desire to congratulate you, as a people, upon the fact that you narrowly escaped, but a few years ago, from falling victims to one of the slickest political bunco games that it has ever been my pleasure to help expose and dissect. This scheme was engineered by the game hogs of this state; I can call them nothing else, and subsequently at the general election, backed up and approved by the Fish and Game Commission, which you and I help to support.

The initial step in this proceeding was to organize in various counties of the state so-called Fish and Game Protective Associations. Representatives were sent out by interested parties to form these associations. It was, of course, explained to those desirous of becoming members that wild ducks were fast disappearing and that the much abused market hunter alone was responsible for such conditions. Business men who participated in annual duck shooting ,and in fact nearly every one who owned a shotgun in this city, was approached on the subject and his membership to the proposed club solicited. All that was necessary to be done was to plank down the sum of twenty-five cents, sign a card pledging yourself to uphold, support and abide by the game laws of the state ,and you became a full fledged member. The avidity with which many of my friends and acquaintances here bit at this bait would make a hungry trout green with envy, and the very thought of some of these persons pledging themselves to sustain the game laws of this state would certainly cause a man to laugh, when he was shedding tears, a dog to walk backwards up hill, or a well-fed horse to eat green tar weed when he was not hungry. I was asked and fairly coaxed to become a member of the association here. Whether it was intuition, the smelling of a mouse or the feeling that there was a nigger in the woodpile, as the saying is, I cannot now remember, but I positively refused to become a member of the Fish and Game Association of San Mateo county, and as I look back, knowing what subsequently transpired, I suffer from no regrets.

The organization was perfected, as it was in other counties throughout the state, and then came the playing of the trump card. An amendment was placed upon the ballot at the coming election for the consideration of the voters, by which, if the amendment was carried and became a law, it was claimed that this terrible duck destroying market hunter would be forever done away with, and the wild birds of the marshland would be saved to the people of this and future generations.

As a matter of fact that amendment, if carried, which thank God, it was not, simply said in so many words that for but one month during the open shooting season of four months, wild ducks could be purchased in the market. What did that mean? It simply meant this: that while I could enjoy duck dinners with my family for the period of four months, my next door neighbors, Mr. Baird and Mr. Weller, would have to be satisfied with what wild ducks they wished to consume for a period of thirty days only. They, the game hogs of this state, backed up by the Fish and Game Commission thereof, and supported by the local association here, were simply saying to you Judge Buck, to you Judge Fitzpatrick and to you Frank K. Towne, Henry Steinberger, J. B. Perry, P. P. Chamberlain, A. D. Walsh, J. F. Johnston, H. W. Schaberg, W. H. Lipp Jr., D. R. Stafford, E. P. Heise, James P. Coleman, M. Sheehan, and in fact to every man within this state, who, not owning a shotgun, or possessing one, had not the time or inclination to kill wild ducks. The market hunters are fast decimating the web-foots; something must be done for posterity; you must deprive yourself of a luxury; we are going to pass a law which will permit you to enjoy wild duck dinners for thirty days, and no more, but we, us sports, (game hogs, Fish and Game Commission, etc.) will be permitted to kill and eat ducks for the full open season, a period of four months. Of course, if we see fit to give you a duck, it will be all right, but unless we can see our way clear to do so, you will have to be content with the appetizing odor of a half dozen fat sprig or teal, wafted to you through the open windows of our kitchens, while our respective wives are preparing the delicious birds for our consumpton.

I should like to ask the readers of this article whether, during their long or short lives, they have ever heard or read of a more despicable unreasonable, unjust, selfish, if not unconstitutional law, than that which was attempted to be foisted upon an unsuspecting public? Ask one of the bright eyed grammar school boys whom you meet every morning as you pass along the street what he thinks of such a law. His eyes will snap as he answers you with a word the late Professor Mantz would not permit in his class room. In language more forcible than eloquent he will exclaim, "rotten", and that is exactly what that proposed law surely was.

I take it as a fundamental principle of equity, that God Almighty, in His wise providence, created the fish of the sea, and the birds of the air, or such of them as are edible, for the consumption of mankind irrespective of wealth, social prominence, so called or political power, the game hogs of this state and the Fish and Game Comission thereof to the contrary notwithstanding, and I firmly believe that the day is not far distant when there will be a revolution. It will however be a bloodless one. The killing of deputy game wardens must cease. Such action is against law and order and will not be tolerated by a law-abiding public. These field deputies are not responsible for the laws enacted at Sacramento, but are sworn to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of California, and it is their solemn duty to comply with the oath administered to them and see that the laws are obeyed.

There is however a right way to remedy a great wrong. The people, I prophesy, will arise in their might and by the exercise of the unalienable right of the ballot will abolish the Fish and Game Commission, as it exists today, and place in its stead a body of men, irrespective of their political affiliations, who will serve the whole people, regardless of the question of dollars, prestige, or power. Unfortunately many of my acquaintances and friends saw fit to vote for and openly advocate the passage of the amendment above referred to, some of whom I know have since realized their mistake, but there are others who still cling tenaciously to the theory that they were doing what was right. You would be surprised should I mention their names. In doing as they did they were committing an act aganst their fellow man, which never can be justified. In closing, all I can say is, shame on the man who, through any voluntary act of his, would deny to his friends or neighbor a privilege which he himself would not be willing to forego, and thrice shame on him who would preclude the father who reared him, and the mother at whose breast he nourished, from enjoying a luxury which he either could or would not do without. Men did I call them? Pardon my mistake. Creatures would be far more appropriate to designate such beings.

Perhaps conscience is working over them a change, at least it is to be hoped so. I shall therefore not criticize them further, but out of pity mercifully drape the mantle of charity over their shoulders and say as did Christ upon the cross, "Forgive them, for they know not what they do".

TO OUR CONSUMERS:

Your home may be one of the few in your neighborhood not equipped with that near necessity to modern comfort—a gas water heater

Think of the convenience of ample hot water, day or night, with no more than the scratch of a match. It is unnecessary for us to draw attention to the discomforts of other methods of water heating. You know them as well as we do—perhaps better.

There is no reason why you should bother with kettles or fuss with fires to get hot water. Simply take advantage of the offer we are now making.

An offer of a Nineteen Dollar heater for Twelve-fifty is necessarily subject to early withdrawal, owing to present market conditions, and it may be years before another opportunity such as this occurs.

Your heater at this price awaits your order—if you act now. Telephone our local office today for further information.
